

Secretary's Message

Dear members,

Seasonal Greetings

It gives me immense pleasure to pen some words in this column as secretary of this coveted organization. The organization has kept the pace under the able leadership of our beloved President Dr Ravi Varma and I am sure that it will definitely go to greater heights, with the selfless dedication, and efforts of all past and present office bearers of the society and unflinching support of the members.

The specialty though has witnessed astonishing growth but now faces many challenges which may affect the intrinsic style of practice, but if we do it in scrupulous and meticulous way it will glorify the art of our discipline in the times to come.

I sincerely request to show your whole hearted support as registrations, not only to the forthcoming midterm conference and PG convention at Ernakulum, but also to the next family meet at Kumarakom, to make them grand success.

Thank you

Jai CAESOK and Jai Hind
