Journal of Perioperative Echocardiography

1. Aims and Scope

The Journal of Perioperative Echocardiography aims to further research and educate in the imaging of the heart and allied structures intra-operatively and after correctional surgery. This period offers unique learning and research opportunities in alliance with our surgical colleagues. While primarily based on transesophageal echocardiography we also hope to be a sounding board for newer modalities such as epicardial echocardiography and the ever increasing development of using some of these modalities for vascular access. The echocardiographic diagnostics of intensive care, in general and postoperative cardiac intensive care in particular will be another thrust area. All in all, we hope the Journal will fill the void in developing a platform focused on imaging in the perioperative period, diagnostics with the avowed aim of improving surgical results and new methods of assessment or better validation of older methods.

2. Ethical Considerations

Investigation and surgery on human subjects should conform to the guidelines noted in the World Health Organization Chronicle 1976; 30: 360-362.

Manuscripts submitted for publication must comply with the following ethical considerations:

Informed Consent

Informed consent of the patients must be taken before they are considered for participation in the study. Patient identifying information, such as names, initials, hospital numbers, or photographs should not be included in the written descriptions. Patient consent should be obtained in written and archived with the authors.

Protection of Human Subjects and Animals in Research

When conducting experiments on human subjects, appropriate approval must have been obtained by the relevant ethics committees. All the procedures must be performed in accordance with the ethical standards of the responsible ethics committee both (institutional and national) on human experimentation and the Helsinki Declaration of 1964 (as revised in 2008). When reporting experiments on animals, authors must follow the institutional and national guidelines for the care and use of laboratory animals.

3. Copyright

Following guidelines must be followed before submission of the manuscript:

The articles must represent original research material, should not have been published before, and should not be under consideration of publication else where. This however does not include previous publications in form of an abstract or as part of published literature (review or thesis). It is the duty of the author to obtain the necessary permissions for extensive quotations, tables, illustrations, or any other copyrighted material they are using in the paper before a paper can be considered for publication. Copyright of the article gets transferred to Jaypee Brothers, once the article has been accepted for publication. The author would be asked to sign the "Copyright Transfer Form" before his/her article is considered for publication. Once the Copyright Transfer statement has been signed by the corresponding author, no change in authorship or in the order of the authors listed on the article would be accepted by Jaypee Brothers. Also by signing the above mentioned form, the author reassigns the rights of copublishing, or translation if considered necessary in future to the publisher. In the advent of occurrence of any dispute, the matter would be resolved within the jurisdiction of New Delhi court.

While all care has been taken to provide accurate and correct information in accordance with the date of publication, neither the authors, editors nor the publisher takes any legal responsibility for any unintentional omission or error. The publisher makes no expressed or implied warranty with respect to the information contained herein. The published material cannot be photocopied for the following purposes: general distribution, promotion, new works or resale. If this is required, specific written permission requires to be obtained from the publisher. Exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute the articles in this journal have been protected by copyright. This also covers the rights to reproduce or distribute the article as well as the translation rights. No material published in this journal can be reproduced in digital format or stored in form of electronic databases, video disks, etc.

Both the conflict of interests and financial disclosure needs to be handled well while conducting the research study. Disclosure of such relationships is also important in connection with all articles submitted for publication. Both of these have also been included in the copyright transfer form. Authors should give due acknowledgement to the individuals who provide writing or other assistance while conducting the research study and also disclose the funding source for the research study.
